ANYONE WHO HAS GONE ABOVE AND BEYOND IN THEIR LINE OF WORK IS ELIGIBLE AND ANYONE CAN NOMINATE!

RECOGNIZE A FELLOW EMPLOYEE BY FEBRUARY 25th.

Please use this nomination form, have it signed by the supervisor and send it to me, Anne at annecs@uoregon.edu.

GOVERNOR'S STATE EMPLOYEES FOOD DRIVE

The Governor's State Employees Food Drive was founded in 1982. Since its founding, the food drive has provided more than 60 million meals to hungry Oregonians. Last year alone, state employees donated approximately 2.3 million meals and more than 91,000 of those meals came from the generous giving of University of Oregon employees. The food drive also complements our efforts to address food security issues on our own campus.

The food drive starts February 1st and runs through the month. CPFM has been the winner of the chocolate sales for two years running. We intend to win again this year. I attended the kickoff meeting with Ashleigh Sizemore and will pass on the coordination effort to her. She will keep you updated and informed on how to donate. You can reach her at extension 6-2270 or asizemor@uoregon.edu. We will have bins for food donations in the lobby of Bldgs. 136 and 130 and Euphoria chocolate hearts will be for sale at the front desk of Bldg. 136, starting Monday, February 3rd.

Please give and purchase generously for this worthy cause.

NO ONE SHOULD GO HUNGRY!

Martin Luther King Luncheon

Martina Oxoby and Jane Brubaker spoke at the MLK Luncheon on Thursday, January 16th.

Excerpts from Jane's speech:

Winter is here. This time of year the landscape around us seems particularly quiet and still: leaves have fallen to the ground, shrubs are cut back, colorful flowers have been pulled and composted. The visible processes of life have indeed slowed down. In spite of appearances to the contrary, the plants are still alive and are busy taking up water and nutrients, making food, spreading their roots in the warm dark ground. Seeds are waiting in the soil, storing food in their new embryonic tissues, surrounded by a tough seed coat, waiting for warm temperature and longer days. The invisible becomes visible.

Dr. King said "Everything that we see is a shadow cast by that which we do not see." "No work is insignificant. All labor that uplifts humanity has dignity and importance and should be undertaken with painstaking excellence."

Martina presented a vignette of inclusive placemaking on campus in the built environment, in collaboration with Dr. Daisy O'lice Williams from the Department of Architecture.

Sustainability Open House – Winter 2020

PRESENTED BY THE STUDENT SUSTAINABILITY CENTER, ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES, AND THE OFFICE OF SUSTAINABILITY

Sarah Stoeckl hosted the inaugural Sustainability Open House on January 17th. These gatherings will take place quarterly and are brought to you by the Student Sustainability Center, Environmental Studies and the Office of Sustainability. Among those who spoke from CPMF were Darin Dehle from D&C discussing the restoration of the Mill-race, and Donny Addison from Zero Waste revealing changes to the program.

FROM AroundtheO: Each meeting will include brief presentations from pre-selected staff, faculty members and student groups, as well as time for casual networking to build collaborations between faculty and staff units. “We know we have a complex, passionate campus system,” said Sarah Stoeckl, program manager in the Office of Sustainability and the event host. “The Sustainability Open Houses will, ideally, maximize our efforts through information-sharing and growing collaborations.”

To further collaborations that arise from the meetings, Jamie Moffitt, vice president for finance and administration, has offered $5,000 per year in funding for new projects and initiatives. “Between campus operations and faculty research and teaching, we have multiple opportunities to use our physical campus as a living laboratory,” Moffitt said. “This initiative will further the UO’s goals for student success and highlight how everyone at this institution can help prepare our students for the future.” Requests for funding are due by May 1, 2020 and will be managed by the Office of Sustainability. “Sustainability, climate action and social equity are primary concerns for our students,” said Taylor McHolm, director of the Student Sustainability Center and meeting co-host. “These open houses will allow students to hear about what’s going on, and perhaps more importantly they can be a way for students to make their own priorities heard and help set the path forward. Everyone; students, staff, faculty has a lot to learn from one another in terms of research, knowledge, action and values.” To ask questions or be notified of future Sustainability Open Houses, contact Sarah Stoeckl at sstoeckl@uoregon.edu.

To: Sandi Cullimore <sandic@uoregon.edu>; Backflow <Backflow@EWEB.ORG>
Subject: RE: UO Facilities December backflow

Hi Sandi,
Thank you for the information! I have made corrections to both assemblies and entered the test results for N5112. The work activities for 2020 just got generated. You should be able to see the 2020 tests tomorrow. No 2020 activity generated for SB2169 until the repairs is done (I moved its 2019 activity to Jan 2020).

I want to express my THANK YOU to you for your hard work in 2019. It's been a pleasure working with you. I especial appreciate your thorough clean-up work after UO's reorganization. I'm positive 2020 will be an easier year ☺

Hi Donny and Jeff,
On behalf of the Planning office, I want to appreciate Jeff for getting out on Wednesday and cleaning up all of the packing peanuts that were spread across the compound. He kept working on it through some major downpours and got it looking great! Thanks for keeping all that junk out of our waterways, Jeff!

Hi Anne & Phil,
I wanted to thank the grounds crew for all the hard work they do around campus, they are undoubtedly the hardest working crew we have. Specifically I would like to thank Antonio Coello, the education grounds require constant and diligent effort to keep the sidewalks clear of debris, and with the countless acorn trees and ginkgo trees, it can make a real mess on the daily. Antonio is here every morning when I get here at 6:30am already hard at work, it is extremely nice to have such a safe clean environment to come to work in, thank you Antonio keep up the fantastic work.

Subject: Huge Kudos to Locksmith Team

Tad,
As you may know, we had some very complicated and expensive sound doors installed in Allen Hall for the recent Hub renovation. One of our main concerns was making sure our locksmith shop could and would support the doors for maintenance and repair once the project was complete. We had quite a bit of bugs to work through after the initial install, not the least of which the manufacturers errors in hinge alignment among other issues. Through it all, dedicating much brainpower, creativity, and very hard work (nearly 500lb doors), the locksmiths, especially Tucker, simply shined. In fact, Tucker proved to be much more resourceful and knowledgeable about the doors than the factory tech that was sent from Chicago to try and address the issues (whom had installed many of these doors). Tucker and Dave sleuthed a resolution that allowed the door to open via the motor with just a turn of the handle, something the tech thought was not possible. All along, they seemed excited and driven by the challenge, and never expressed frustration or dialed back expectations. I feel like Tucker could have fit in at NASA or a nuclear facility. This level of dedication and work ethic is very rare. Ken Straw also did a lot of the pre-vetting, thanks to him as well. You have a stellar crew on your hands, Tad, they have earned an extremely hearty pat on the back.

Ken & Josh,
I want to extend my thanks to you for helping out the Studio Tech in the Metalsmith & Jewelry department today. She had expressed concerns about her torch setup and I was grateful to be able to direct her to your team to review her torch set-up in person. Josh, I understand that you found and corrected some safety issues, helped her set up her new torch and left her with a couple of other recommendations for improvements as well. I'm so glad that she reached out for support and that you were both available to help.
