Introduction

Beginning with the academic year 2018-19, the Classroom Utilization Study format was modified to improve its readability with the goal of making it a more useful tool for analyzing how efficiently the University is using its classrooms. The most noticeable changes from previous reports are moving the exhibits into the appendices and adding visualization graphs for the two major metrics the University uses to measure efficiency.

The Study is an analysis of scheduled hours of occupancy per week (time utilization standard) and classroom student stations (seat utilization standard). The study is based on student registration data (Student Centralized Administrative Reporting File, or SCARF) from the fourth week of the Fall Term of 2019 with a pull date of October 25, 2019.

The report is used to determine how efficiently the University is using its classrooms and provides data to enable decisions about renovations, new classrooms, and scheduling protocols.

The study includes comparisons of the 2019 Fall Term data with data from Fall Term 2018.

Class labs are not fully analyzed in this study but the appendices include data on room use and student-station use of lower-division and upper-division class labs.

Additional data, aligning with previous reports are included in the Appendix.

Classroom Categories

Seminar

Up to 20 students. Flexible furniture to allow for small discussions and meetings as a whole.

Traditional

21 to 100 students. Flat floors with movable furniture to allow for small discussions/group work, and meetings as a whole.

Lecture Halls

100 plus students. Tiered floors with seats arranged in theater style.

Scheduling Types

General classrooms

Scheduled centrally by the registrar.

Joint classrooms

Scheduled by the registrar according to the department preference first and then the remaining time is scheduled by the registrar.

Department classrooms

Scheduled by the registrar in accordance with the department's desires. Other classes are not scheduled in Department classrooms.

Targets for Performance

Utilization data is assessed Monday through Friday 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM per week. This is 45 hours of total available time. Data for hours outside of these parameters is collected and reported in a few exhibits, but is not a part of the detailed results or the visualizations. Beginning with this report, the targets have been adjusted to align with the targets used by the Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC).

Time Utilization Target

The University of Oregon's time utilization goal is 36 hours. This the total hours per week a classroom is scheduled.

Seat Utilization Target

The University of Oregon's seat utilization goal is 67%. Seat utilization is the average percentage of seats occupied in the classroom when the classroom is in use.

Classroom Categories &
Capacity

Classroom Scheduling Type &
Capacity

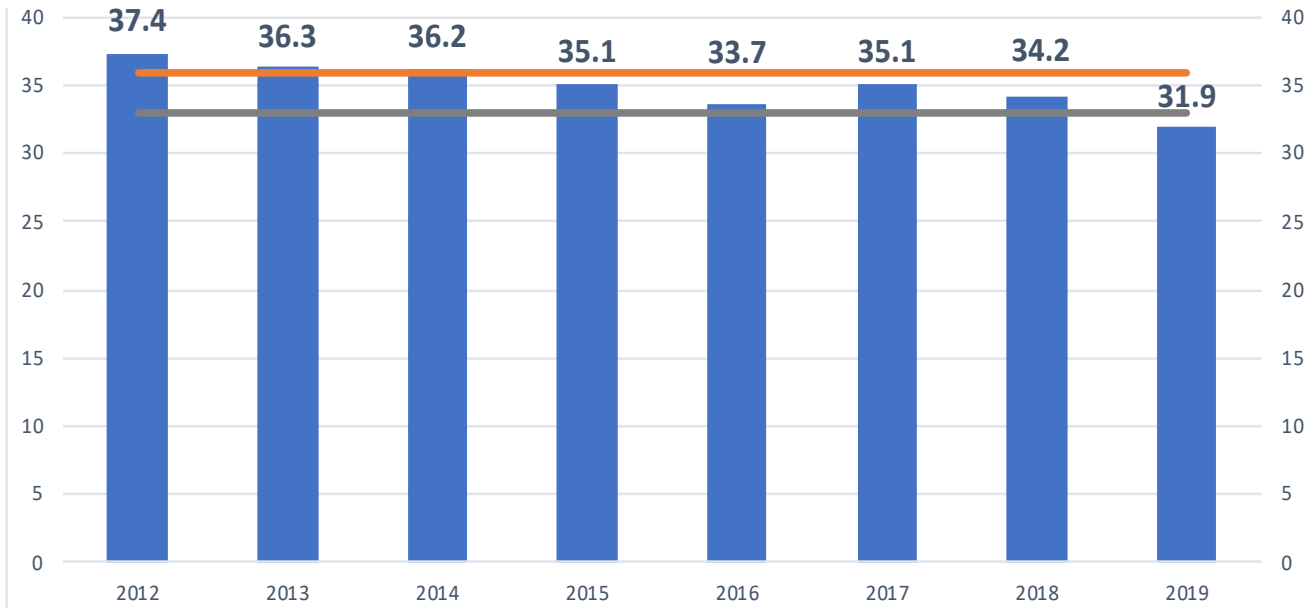

Utilization analysis for full-time classroom facilities is based on a dataset of 190 full-time classrooms and seminar rooms: general university (Registrar controlled), jointly controlled, and departmentally controlled rooms—that were scheduled in Banner during Fall term 2019.

One classroom (Anstett 191) was removed from the classroom inventory this year to facilitate the installation of new technology in other rooms in Anstett. All of the Knight Law classrooms (KNI 110, 141, 142, 175, 184, 241, 242, 242, 282) have been removed from the visualizations because the data is not complete for both years.

12 classrooms were added to the Fall 2019 inventory -- 8 in Tykeson Hall, and one each in Allen Hall(314), Bean Hall(1201), Esslinger Hall(190) and Agate Hall(100).

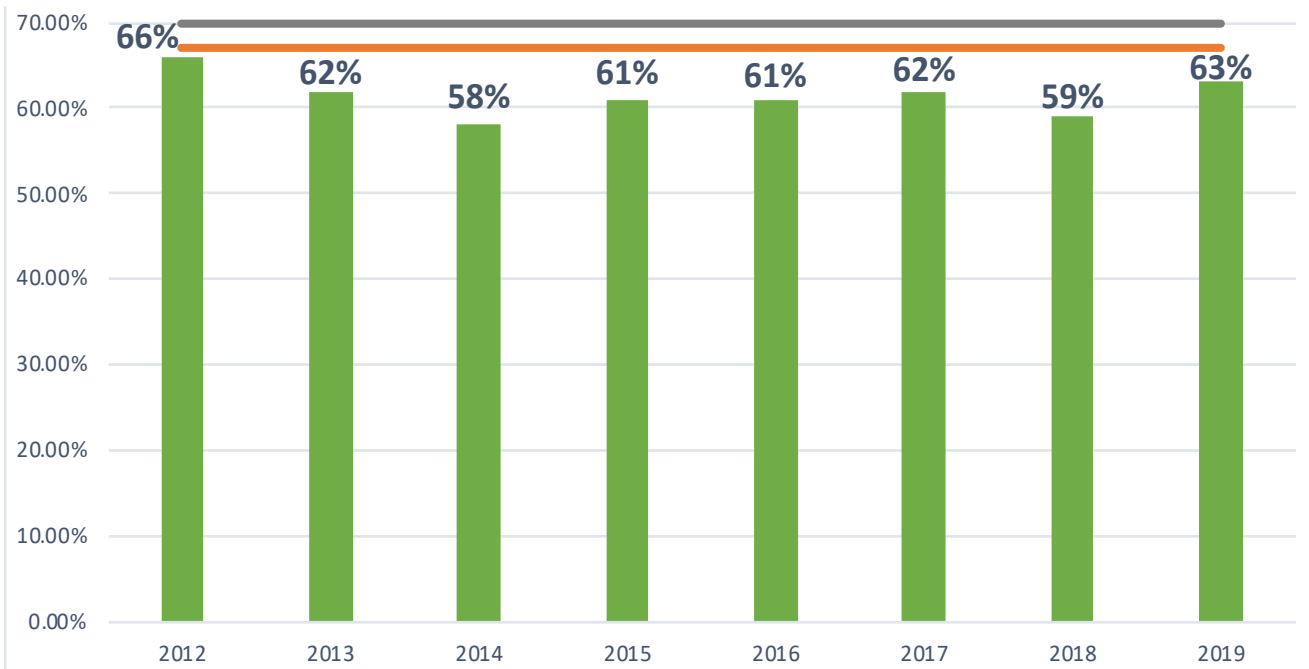

Overall Observations

1. The targets for this study align with targets used by the Higher Education Coordinating Committee. This is a change from previous studies.

Time Utilization Target

The blue bars are the average hours per week each classroom was scheduled for the years shown. The horizontal orange bar is the newly established HECC target (36 hours) and the gray bar is the old UO target (33 hours).

Seat Utilization Target

The green bars are the average percentages each classroom's stations were occupied for the years shown. The horizontal orange bar is the newly established HECC target (67%) and the gray bar is the old UO target (70%).

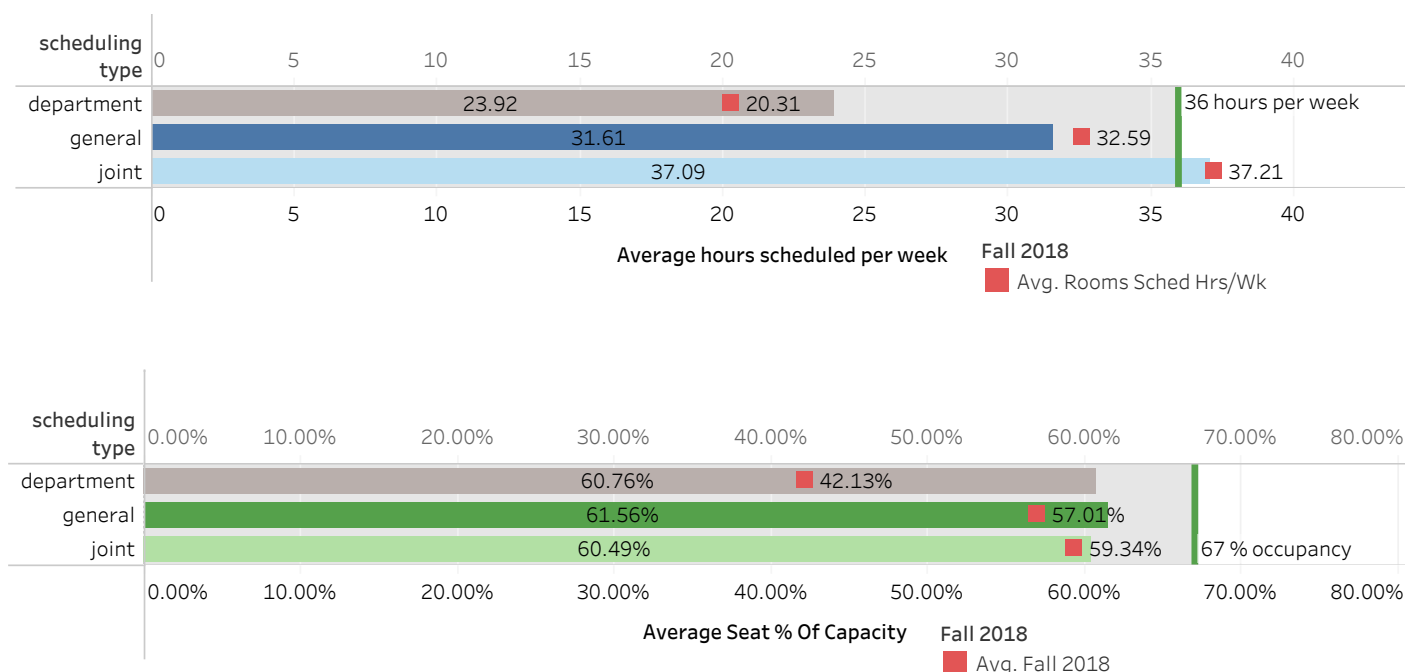

Overall Observations

- 2. Measured against the targets, the seat utilization is better than Fall 2018 and the time utilization is worse than Fall 2018.

Time Utilization (percent of 36 hour target)	Fall 2019 31.9 hrs (89%)	Fall 2018 34.2 hrs (95%)	Target 36 hrs
Seat Utilization (percent of 67% target)	Fall 2019 63% (94%)	Fall 2018 59% (88%)	Target 67%

Fewer sections result in fewer scheduled hours and higher percentages of seat utilization.

- 3. Department-controlled classrooms perform worse in the hour utilization and about the same in the seat utilization.

This is a fairly consistent finding year to year.

Overall Observations

- 4. Historically, more classes are scheduled between the hours of 10 AM and 3 PM and on Monday through Thursday than at other times.

Percent of the total classroom stations scheduled in each hour of the week.

The least scheduled hours were the hours after 5 PM on Friday. The next least scheduled hours were after 4 PM on all days and Friday. The most scheduled hour was Thursday at 3 PM.

Overall Observations

- 5. The University's average amount of square feet per each student station is dramatically below the national recommended target (25 asf/station) listed in the October 2019 HECC Strategic Capital Development Plan.

Each classroom in the study is shown above as a column equal to the square feet per student station for the classroom. The classrooms are arranged along the horizontal axis with the highest square feet per station on the left and the lowest on the right. The national target for square feet per station is 25 square feet and is shown as a green line.

The campus overall average square feet per station is 17.98 square feet.

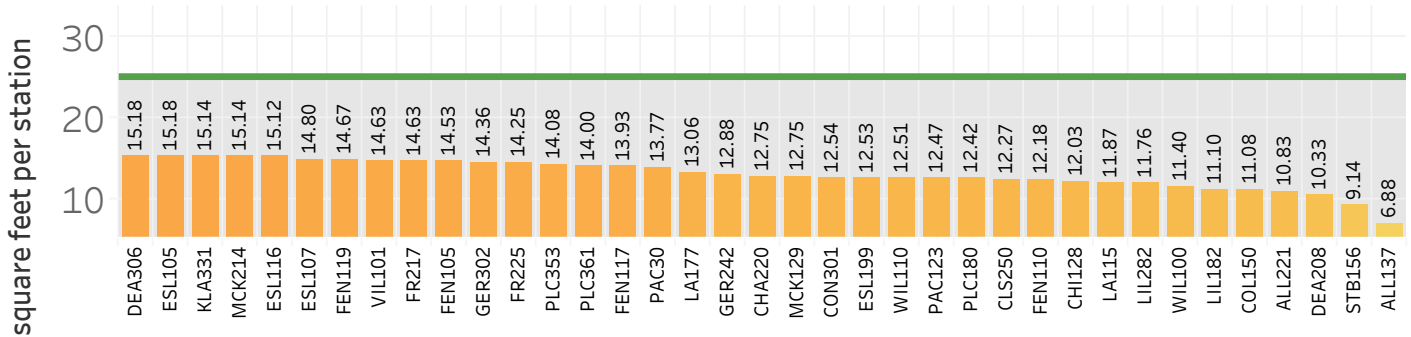

Theater style classrooms with fixed seating and tablet arms will be lower asf per stations -- one example is PLC at 12.42 asf per station. However, active learning and other classrooms designed for flexible seating will have higher asf per stations, bringing the average back to the 25 asf per station level.

These are the highest station per square feet classrooms. Condon 106 at 44.47 has the campus' largest square feet per station.

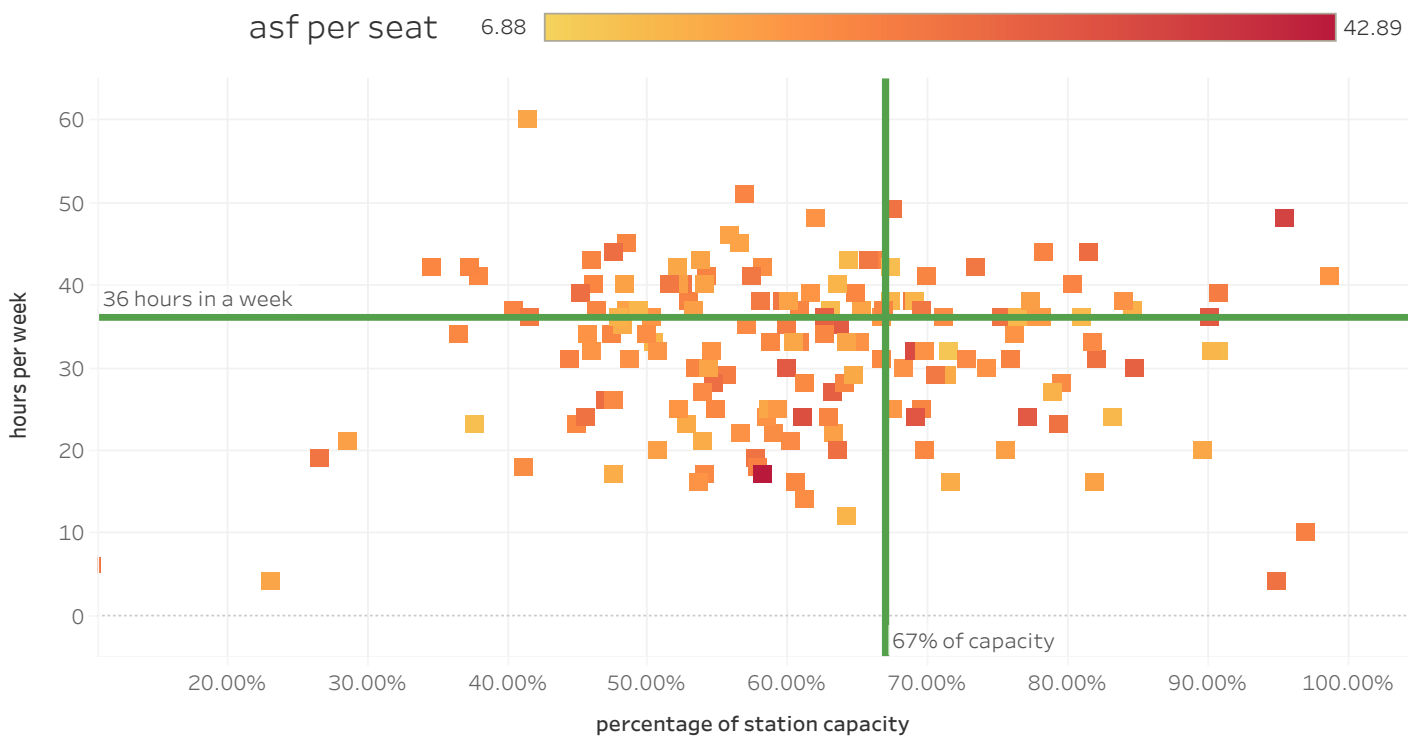

Overall Observations

5. continued

These are the lowest square feet per station classrooms. Some, such as PLC 180 are theater style classrooms with fixed seats and tablet arms. This type of classroom will always be below the 25 asf average.

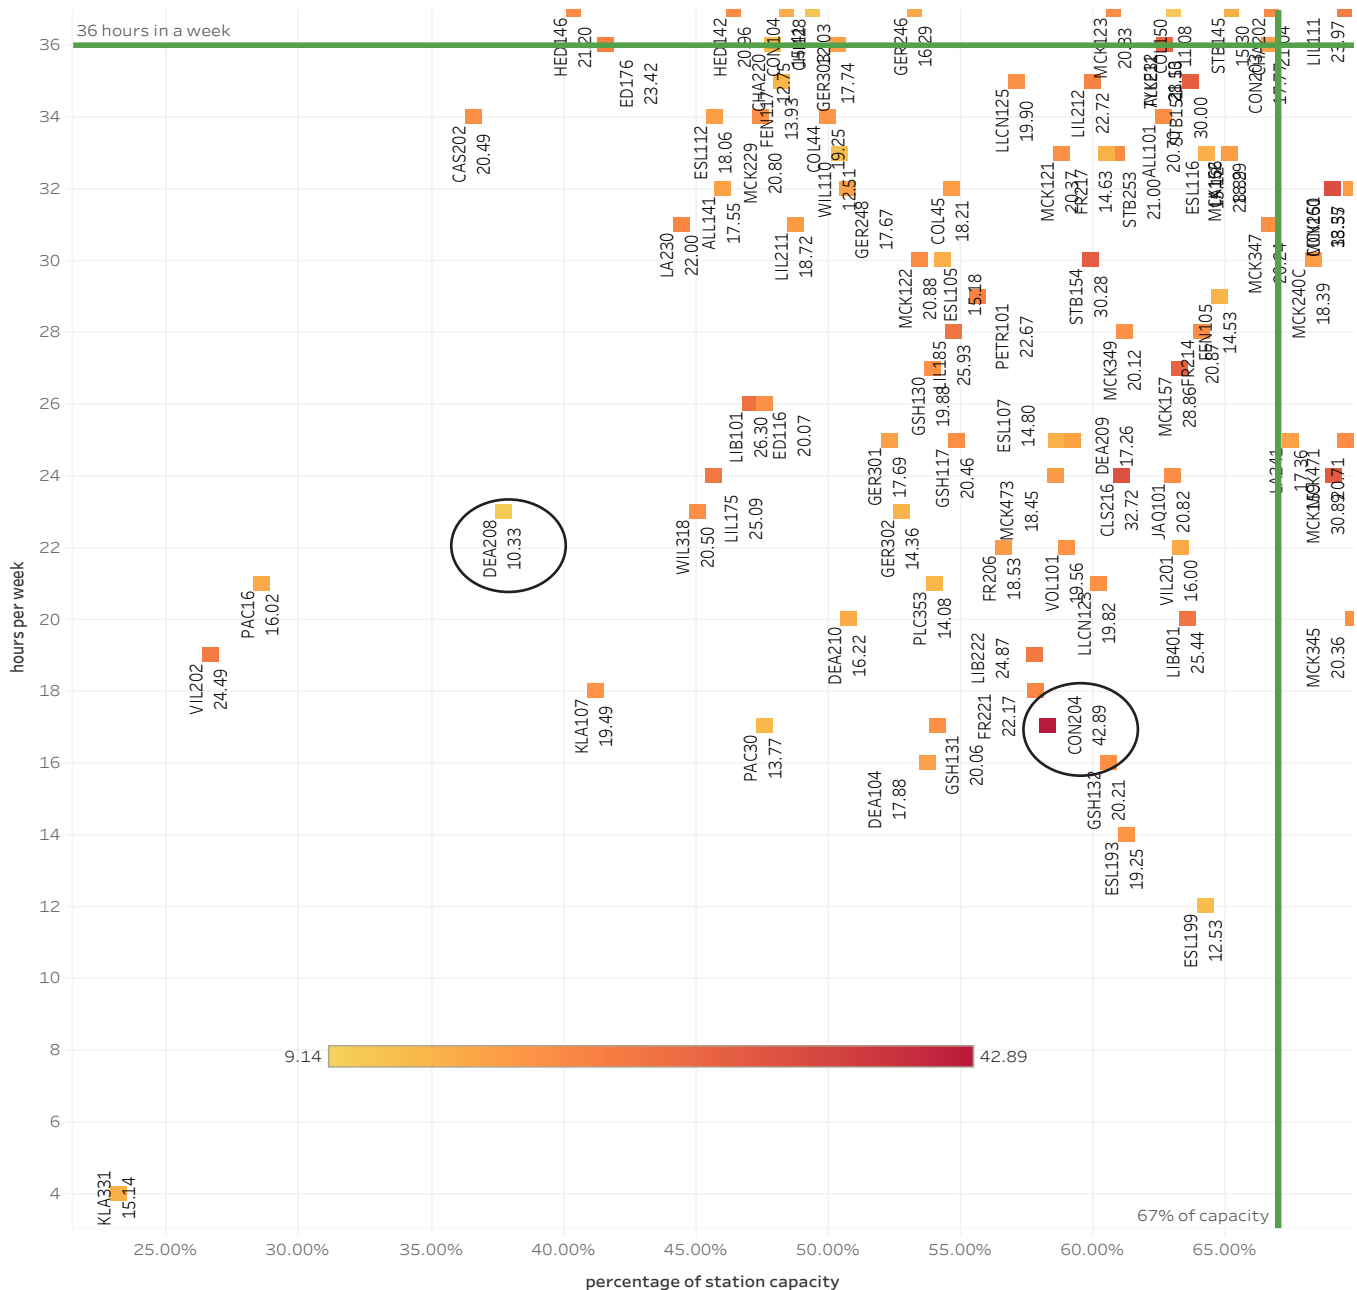

6. The square feet per station for the vast majority of classrooms is below the target but there does not appear to be a relationship between asf/station and meeting utilization targets.

The horizontal axis is the hour per week each classroom is scheduled. 36 hours is the target represented by the green horizontal line. The squares above the line are classrooms meeting and exceeding the standard. The vertical axis is the percentage classroom stations are occupied during classes. The squares to the right of the vertical line are meeting or exceeding the standard of 67% of station capacity. The darker colored orange squares are the highest asf per station classrooms. The quadrant on the upper right contains the classrooms meeting both the hours and percentage targets. The quadrant on the lower left contains those not meeting either standard.

6. continued

This is the lower left quadrant (the worst in meeting the hours and station percentage targets). Each square is a classroom and darker orange squares are higher in asf per station and lighter colored ones are lower in asf per station. There does not appear to be a relationship between asf/station and meeting the utilization targets. For example, Condon 204 is one of the highest in asf per station but is found in this quadrant. On the other hand Deady 208 at 10.33 is one of the lowest and is also found here.

Overall Observations

7. Weekly student classroom hour (wsch) are up from Fall 2018.

wsch stands for weekly student classroom hours. The wsch for the campus is calculated by multiplying the hours a day a class is held times the number of days it is held per week times the enrollment in the class. The chart above shows the total wsch for the campus for the fall terms of the last 7 years. With a couple of exceptions, the total is remarkably consistent over the 7 years.

wsch is used to calculate the square footage a campus will need to accommodate its students. The wsch is multiplied by the product of the asf per station divided by the target hours times the percentage of seats to be filled.

$$\text{asf needed} = \text{wsch} \times \frac{\text{asf per classroom station}}{\text{hours scheduled} \times \text{percentage of stations filled}}$$

Using the average asf currently available for classrooms stations and presuming the targets would be fully met, for fall of 2019 the campus needs:

$$238,349 \text{ wsch} \times \frac{17.98 \text{ asf}}{36 \text{ hrs} \times 67 \text{ percent}} = 177,570 \text{ asf.}$$

The campus currently has 206,415 asf assigned to classrooms or approximately 30,000 asf more than needed for the 2019 Fall Term wsch. If targets for scheduling of classrooms are met the campus could reassign this extra asf to other uses. Another approach could be to use the extra asf to reduce the number of stations in some classrooms and bring the campus closer to the asf per station target set by the HECC.

This method can also be used to right size the classroom supply if the amount of time spent in a classroom decreases (or increases) over time as methods change for delivering education or enrollment changes.

Overall Observations

7. continued

The chart above shows the wsch per full time enrolled (FTE) students over the last 7 years. For fall of 2019 the wsch of 238,349 is divided by the enrollment of 22,034 students. The result is 10.8173. This means on average, each student spends almost 11 hours per week in the classroom. (The large difference in the data for Fall 2018 is not fully understood, it is likely there is a simple error somewhere in the calculations which is causing this difference.)

To predict classroom asf needs for various levels of enrollment an assumption has to be made about how many hours each student will spend in a classroom. This data can inform this analysis.

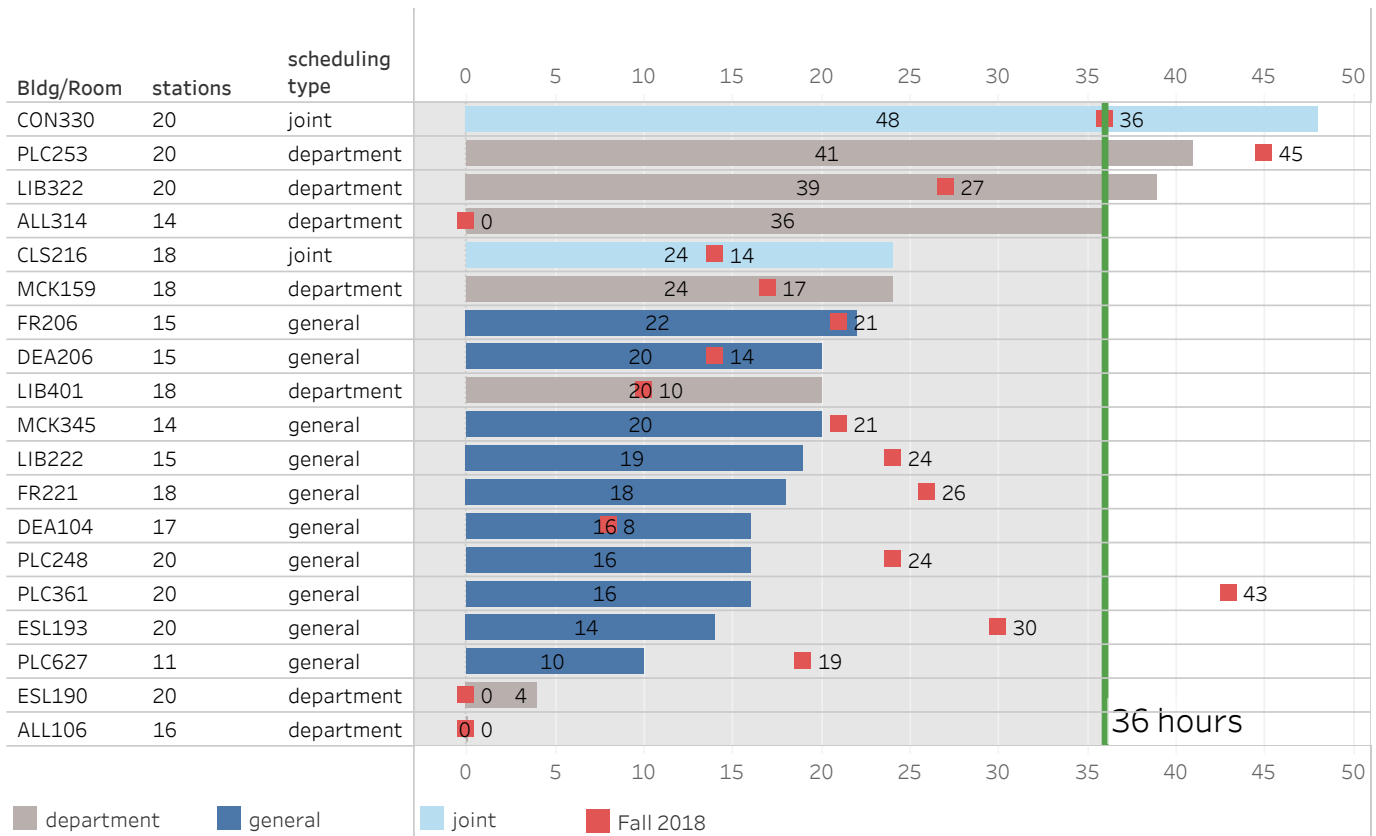

For example, if a student spends 10.5 hours in class per week (the 7 year average) and the campus enrollment is 22,500 FTE, a total of 236,250 wsch will be generated. Given the current asf per station (17.98) and presuming the targets for hours (36) and percentage of seats filled (67%) are reached, the total asf needed would be 176,000 asf.

This means the current classroom supply of 206,415 asf is adequate for an enrollment of 22,500 if each student spends 10.5 hours a week in the classroom AND the targets for hours and percentages are met.

Findings/Visualizations - Time Standard

Seminar Classrooms 0 to 20 Seats

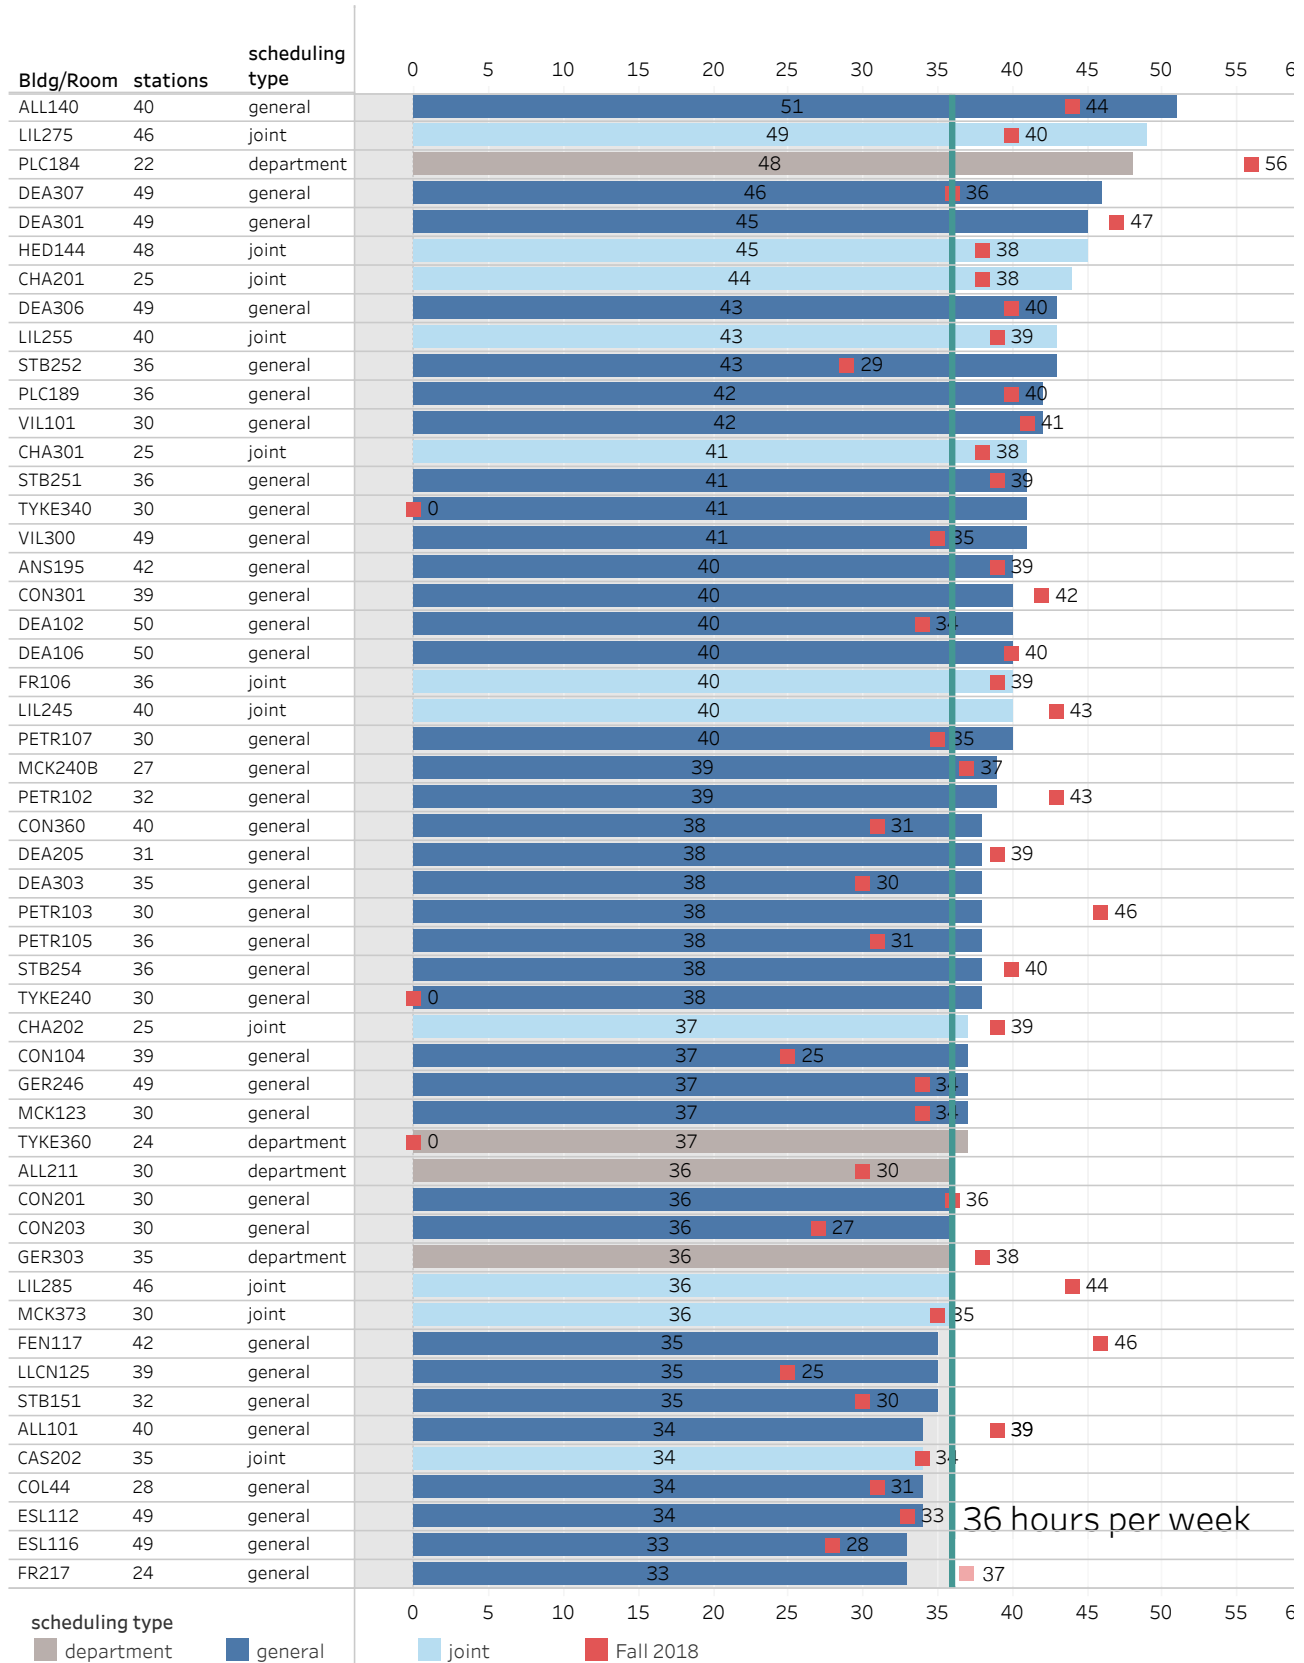

Hours Scheduled

- Four of the 19 classrooms (21%) in this category met the target - three did in the fall of 2018.
- According to the Registrar, Allen 106 had four classes scheduled in it although the pull of data used for this report did not include these classes. Since the fall, the room has been repurposed and the inventory will be brought up to current status.
- Esslinger 190 is newly added to this category and at 4 hours is the poorest performer. Allen 314 is also new and is one of the four that meet the target of 36 hours.
- One of the highest performers from 2018, PLC361, is one of the worst performers in 2019 at 16 hours.

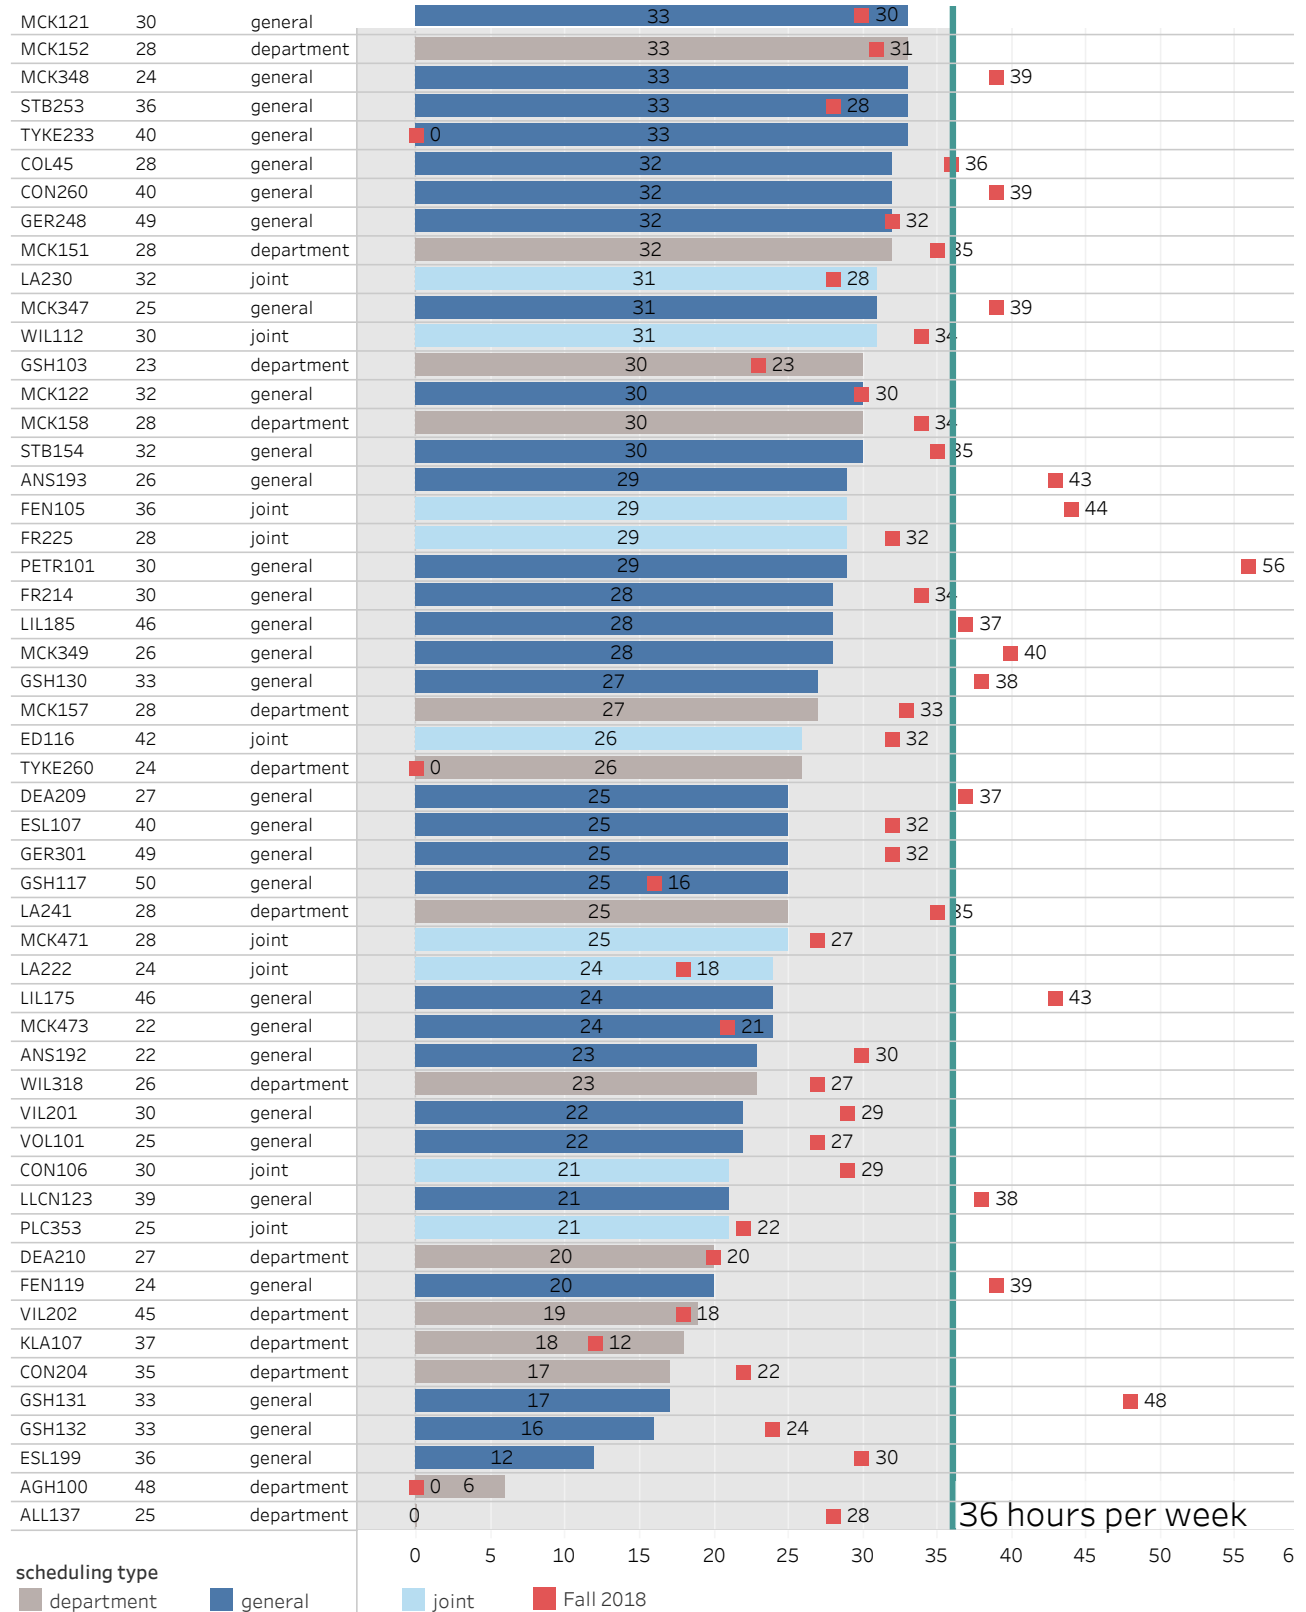

Findings/Visualizations - Time Standard

Findings for the 21 to 50 seat classrooms, time standard:

- 44 of the 105 classrooms (42%) in this category (less than half) met the target of 36 hours - exactly the same number (although very different rooms) met the target in the fall of 2018.
- Allen 137 is no longer a classroom and the inventory will be brought up to current status.
- At 51 hours, Allen 140 is the highest performing classroom for hours in this category and only one other classroom, MCK214 was scheduled for more hours (60).
- Two classrooms, GSH131 and PETR 101 made significant drops in hours scheduled from the fall of 2018.
- AGH100 is not scheduled in Banner and this is why it has a low utilization rate.

Findings/Visualizations - Time Standard

Traditional Classrooms 51 to 100 Seats

Hours Scheduled

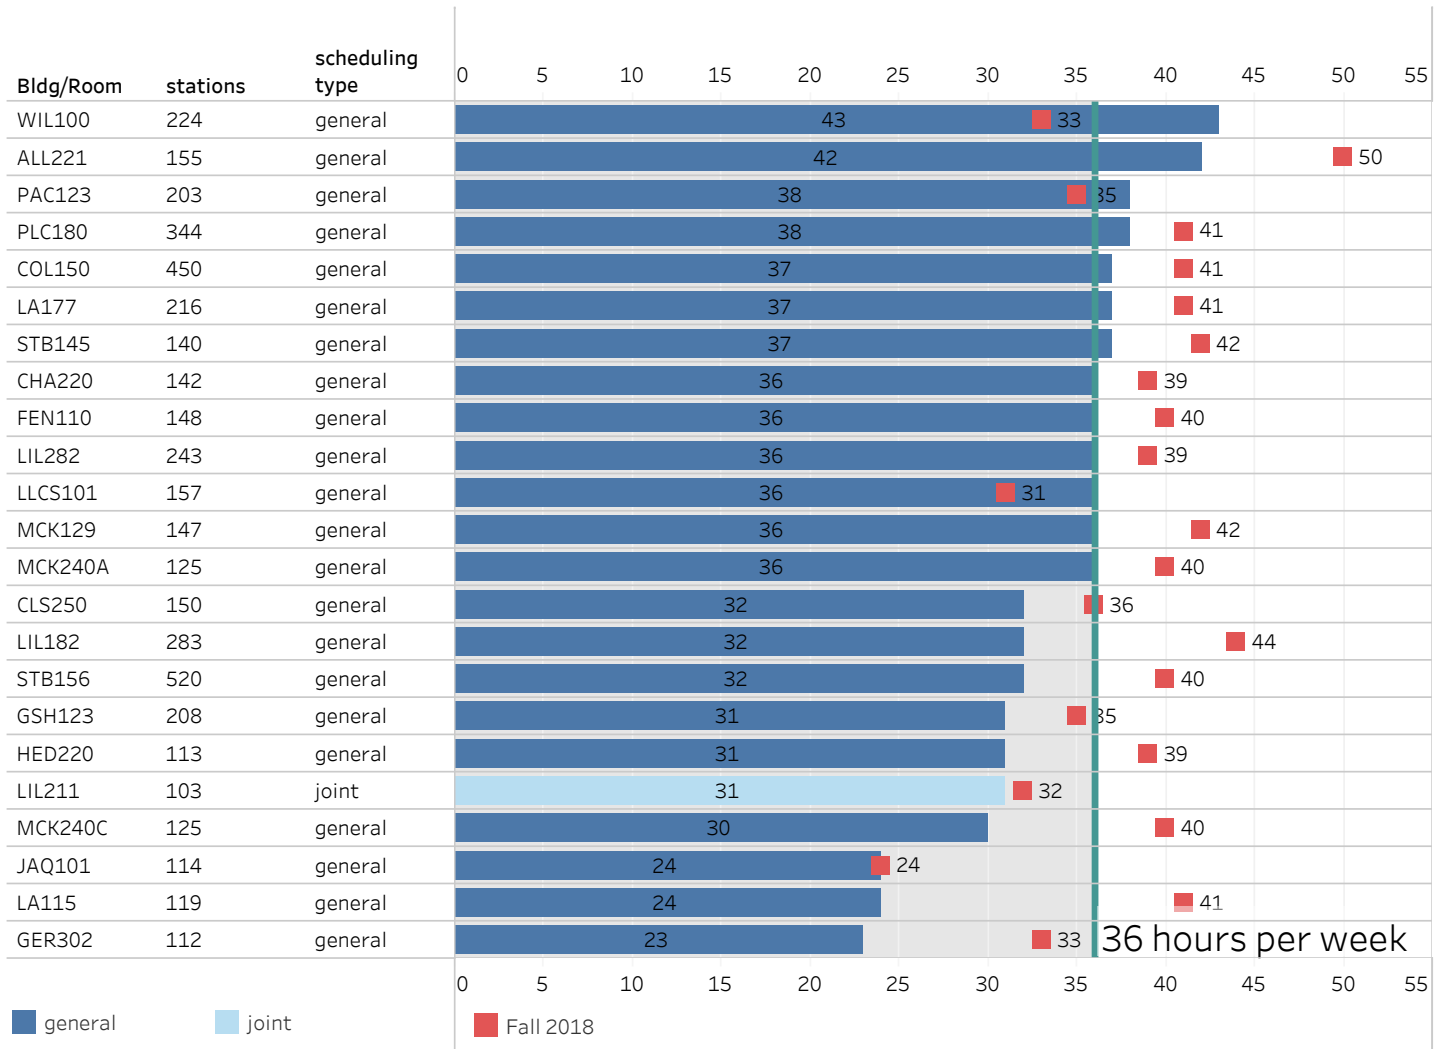

- 17 of the 34 classrooms (50%) in the category meet the target of 36 hours -- 16 met the target in the fall of 2018.
- KLA331 was scheduled for one class and has since been repurposed to other uses and the inventory will be updated accordingly.
- At 60 hours, MCK214 is the highest performing classroom for hours in any category. This is the screening room for Cinema Studies and explains its extraordinary hours of use.
- Two classrooms in Pacific, PAC16 and PAC30 made significant drops in hours scheduled from the fall of 2018.

Findings/Visualizations - Time Standard

Lecture Halls Greater Than 100 Seats

Hours Scheduled

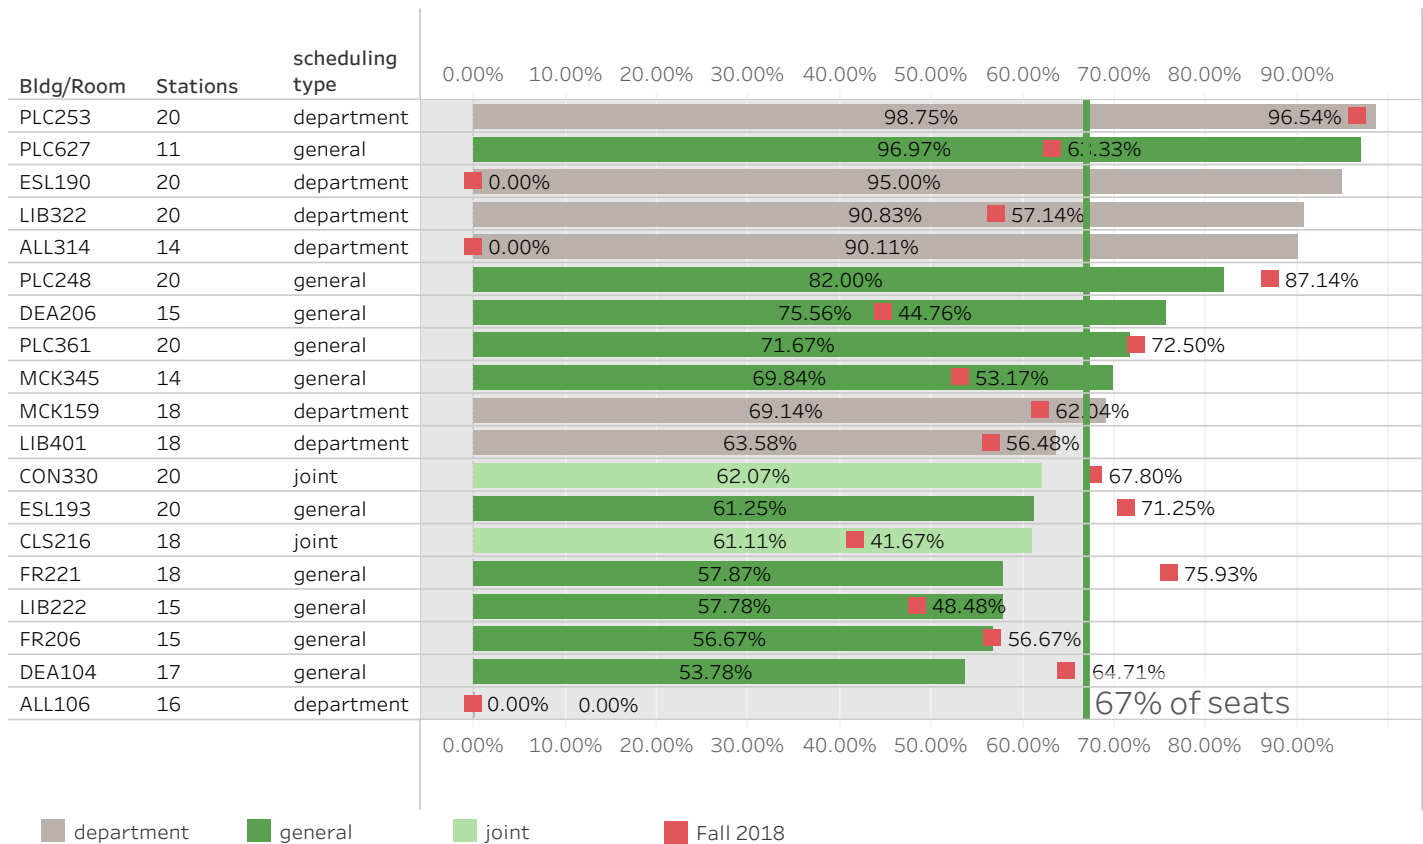

- 13 of the 23 classrooms (56%) in the category meet the target of 36 hours -- 15 met the target in the fall of 2018.
- As a category the hours are down from 2018 in all but three classrooms. This seems noteworthy.

Findings/Visualizations - Seat Standard

Seminar Classrooms up to 20 Seats

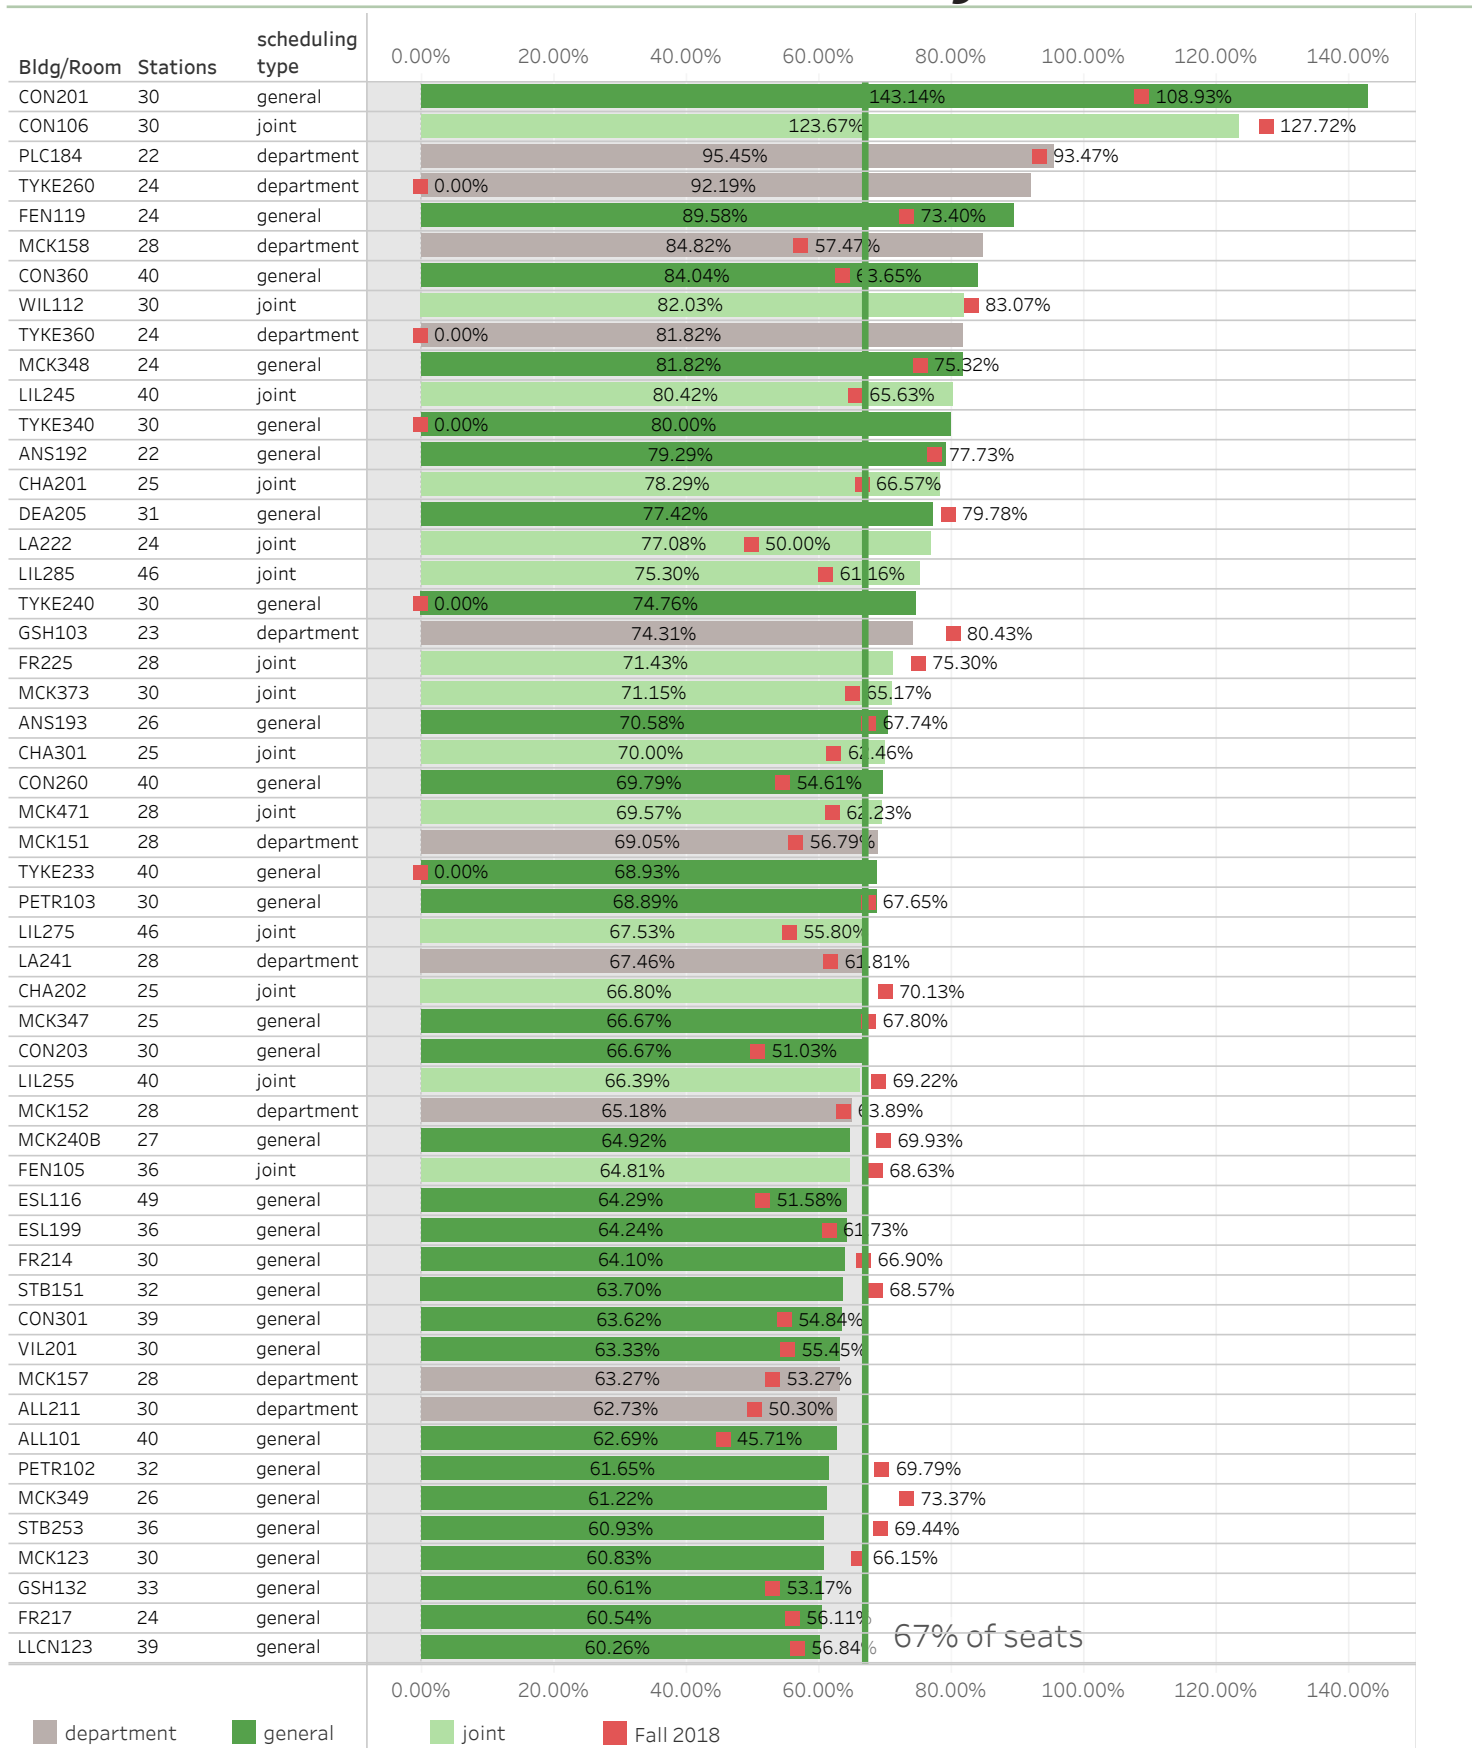

Percentage of Seats Occupied

- 10 of the 19 classrooms (52.6%) in the category meet the target of occupancy for 67% of the seats - six met the target in the fall of 2018.
- According to the Registrar, Allen 106 had four classes scheduled in it although the pull of data used for this report did not include these classes. Since the fall, the room has been repurposed and the inventory will be brought up to current status.
- The department controlled classrooms perform well compared to the other classrooms.
- Two classrooms in ESL 190 and ALL 314 are new to the category and meet the standard easily.
- FR221 dropped 18% points, the largest drop of the category.

Rules

Programming Rules Applied to Space Utilization Data for Summarization

Any time two classes are held in the same room during the same hour and do not overlap by more than 15 minutes, the one with the highest enrollment is counted. For example, if a class that runs from 8:00-9:20 has an enrollment of 20 and a class that runs from 9:30-11:00 has an enrollment of 32, the enrollment is counted as follows:

Hour	Room Occupancy Count	Counted Enrollment
8:00	1	20
9:00	1	32 (the highest of the two enrollments during the hour)
10:00	1	32

If classes do overlap more than 15 minutes, their enrollment is summed for that hour. For example, if two different classes meet in a computer lab - one from 12:00 to 12:50 with 10 enrollment and another from 12:00 to 2:50 with 27 enrollment--their enrollment is summed for the 12:00 hour.

The enrollment is counted as follows:

Hour	Room Occupancy Count	Counted Enrollment
12:00	1	37 (the sum of the two enrollments during the hour)
1:00	1	27
2:00	1	27

If more than one CRN is scheduled in a room during the same hour, their enrollments are summed. For examples, if both CS 301 with 15 enrollment and CS 401 with 25 enrollment are held from 12:00 to 12:50 in the same room, their enrollment is summed for the duration of the class (i.e., the 12:00 hour would show an enrollment of 40).

If a course goes 15 minutes or more into an hour, its enrollment is counted during that hour, and the room is considered used for the whole hour. If the class takes less than 15 minutes of the hour, none of the data are counted for that hour. (E.g., a class held from 9:00 to 12:10 counts during hours 9:00, 10:00, and 11:00 but not 12:00; a class held from 9:50 to 12:50 counts during the hours 10:00, 11:00, and 12:00).

Room use and enrollment counts are repeated for each class meeting day.

Room use and enrollment counts are repeated for each hour the class is in session.

In order to be counted, a given scheduled class must contain the following information: Building, Room, Begin Time, End Time, Meeting Days, and Room Code.

The summary data objects include only information for ongoing classes as of a snapshot date, the last day of the fourth week of the subject term (the day SCARF data is initially sent in). Classes that end before that date or classes that begin after that date are not counted.
