The proposed amendments will come back to the Campus Planning Committee for further discussion prior to the public hearing and CPC action on the June 1, 2018.

Action: No formal action is requested. The committee's comments will be considered as the proposed amendment moves forward.

2. Collier House Relocation Feasibility Study - Update

Background: The Collier House's location in the heart of campus has raised a number of questions over the last fifteen years about whether a more intensive academic use would be more appropriate given high development pressure particularly for academic uses. The Collier House is a building of primary historic significance on the UO campus (and is a City Landmark); therefore, the implications of such a move require careful consideration. The Collier House Relocation Feasibility Study is intended to help address some of these questions proactively by assessing the physical feasibility of relocating the Collier House and understanding the financial feasibility of such an undertaking. The purpose of this agenda item is to present preliminary findings of the Collier House Relocation Feasibility Study.

Action: No formal action is requested.
