Welcome to Fall!

Say hello to your fellow CPFM'ers who you may not have seen in a while.

On Monday, September 27th, come by any time between 6:30am - 9:00am and grab a coffee/tea and a snack.

For swing shift, come by between 2pm - 3pm.

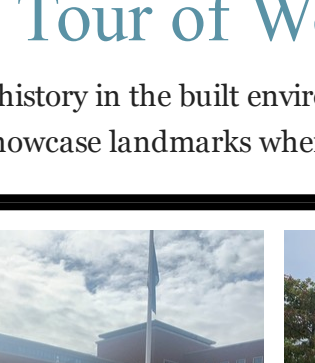

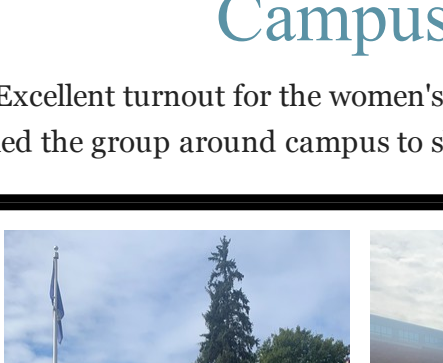

Career Opportunity!

CPFM has a General Maintenance Mechanic position for the Utilities & Energy Department posted on the HR Website. If you would like more information, here is the link. Applications close on September 6th.

Great Custodial Work

Below, Mohamed Mounir, from the dayshift, operates the Tomcat at Romania for an occupancy change. Jude Hess, from the weekend floor crew, seals and burnishes the concrete at Streisinger. Also below, some before and after shots of Pablo Hernandez' work on the Baker Center.

Campus Tour of Women's History

Excellent turnout for the women's history in the built environment tour. Ivy Pitts and Jane Brubaker led the group around campus to showcase landmarks where women paved the way for today's leaders.

Origins of First UO Heating Plant

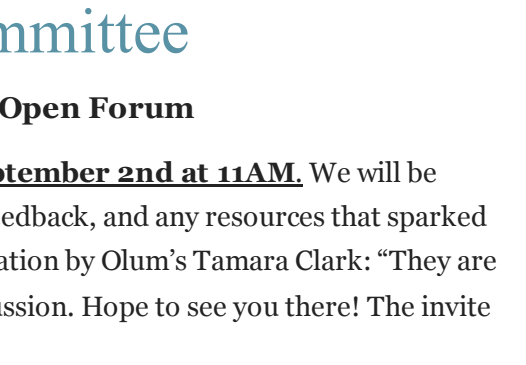

The building (on right) was originally called Mechanical Hall and was designed by Edgar Lazarus in 1903. The building still exists and is now part of Lawrence Hall (northwest portion of the Lawrence Hall Complex).

Part II - In 1924, the second heating plant, also in Lawrence Hall, was designed by Ellis Lawrence. That power plant features on its' west exterior two cast stone panels (right) depicts heat & power and was created by Avard Fairbanks, head of the sculpture area at that time.

In 1951, the new power plant north of Franklin Blvd. opened and the old power plant's stack was removed and interior converted to house art studios.

In 1971, the addition to Lawrence Hall was constructed. The photo on the right shows how the original Mechanical Hall (red roof) is still connected to Lawrence Hall.

VPFA Diversity Committee

CPFM/FASS Diversity Committee Open Forum

Join us for the CPFM/FASS Diversity Open Forum on Thursday, September 2nd at 11AM. We will be reflecting on Everyday Inclusion Month 2021 – sharing experiences, feedback, and any resources that sparked your interest. We'll also be watching a recorded portion of the presentation by Olum's Tamara Clark: "They are not too young - raising children in a diverse world", followed by a discussion. Hope to see you there! The invite with zoom link is on your calendars.

VPFA Diversity Committee Updates:

The results of the participation from Everyday Inclusion Month will be available in October. Thanks to all who participated!

Subject: Feedback

Happy Friday Ruby,
I had some great feedback regarding the clean carpets today. I wanted to send along regards and appreciation from our staff. Especially as it relates to keeping things cleaner during this pandemic, it was nice to see campus being proactive on this as we have had to ask you in past. The process last night seemed to go like a well-oiled machine and I appreciate the Q&A with you ahead of my staff emails.

I also wanted you to know how much we appreciate you being flexible on the dates/times. We hope there is a way incorporate advance notification into this process in future (e.g. so you're not showing up at the FAC hoping to come in and we have to ask you to delay) and appreciate your team dancing our schedule a bit. It made for a win win after that initial bump.

Have a great day!

Mike-
See below. Your teams have been incredibly responsive and thorough for us. In two weeks, maybe less, they've cleared the Romania building, addressed immediate life/safety/security issues, cleaned and polished it, and have saved our Bacon when shipments arrived early/unexpectedly. This is true for Tad and his team, as well as the many others who have played a part in getting us into Romania.

Thanks for all that you and your team have done (and continue to do) for us.
Best-
Brian

Tad-
Thanks for coming over yesterday at the end of your shift with a pallet jack and helping us get the double doors open. You saved us hours of work!
You and your team have been nothing short of incredible getting the Romania space ready for us and helping out at every turn. We couldn't appreciate it more.

Best-
Brian

Hi Morgan,
I arrived today to a brand new Insinkerator hot water tap in our work kitchen! How marvelous. THANK YOU.
We are all thrilled. It's these types of things that really make a difference for a whole building full of essential workers (animal facility). We are so grateful!

LeAnna,
I want to start by thanking you for letting Sandi H. work with me. Not only is she a great employee, she is a truly wonderful person.
Here is a prime example:
Today as I was rushing down to 1715 to an interview, I was texting her on Teams about what we should do with Lawrence's phone. After our brief conversation about what the options might be I asked her if she would be willing to write Justin an email asking his preference. She wrote the perfect combination of a professional and personal email.
We have a real asset in Sandi H.
